64	Accounting	FMN - 2020/April, Seg.1 - Disclosure Effectiveness: Who Tells Your Story?	2.0	Course Overview Public companies are quickly adapting their disclosures to provide better information as regulations and investor sentiments evolve. Traditionally, financial reporting professionals often interpreted "better" to mean "more"...more narrative and more tables, in many cases. That has led to narrative losing its nuance, turning into boilerplate or repetitive language, and tables failing to bring value to the reader. Ultimately, disclosure effectiveness has suffered. April Brady, a Senior Director of Product Marketing with Workiva explains why it is becoming increasingly important for companies to tell their own story through disclosure. 67	Accounting	FMN - 2020/August, Seg.3 - The Perfect Storm - Bankruptcy and COVID-19	2.0	Course OverviewBrooks Brothers, Muji, Sur La Table, RTW Retailwinds and many more businesses filed for bankruptcy in the last few weeks and there are certainly more on the horizon. One thing all these businesses have in common is that they were in distress even before COVID-19, but the virus outbreak pushed them over the edge by creating the perfect storm. COVID-19 resulted in some temporary changes to substantive bankruptcy rules under the CARES Act. Scott Markowitz, Partner and Co-Chair of the Bankruptcy and Corporate Restructuring Practice at Tarter Krinsky & Drogin, gives us an overview of those modifications, and how long they may last. 68	Accounting	FMN - 2020/December, Seg.2 - The Evolution of the Profession - The CPA Journal's 90th Anniversary	2.0	Our team had the privilege to record a Town Hall meeting for the New York State Society of CPAs as a tribute to The CPA Journal's 90th anniversary of publication. The panel consisted of CPAs in the public accounting arena as well as in private practice, who came together to discuss the evolution of the profession. Diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) is one of the hot topics touching every organization and more and more businesses are starting to focus on it. With the recent social unrest in the country, many firms have issued public statements on DEI, but these statements may not be enough. The panelists discuss ways to alleviate the challenges that minorities face in the workplace and more.	07/14/2022
69	Accounting	FMN - 2020/February, Seg.2 - Blockchain: The 'Other' Accounting Ledger	2.0	Course OverviewIn the last couple of years, more and more people talk about Blockchain technology and many think it is a new trend in the 21st century. Some will argue that it is here to stay, others that it will fade away. Yet, very few know that blockchain emerged back in 1991! It was initially a cryptographically secured chain of blocks where no one could tamper with timestamps of documents. At its most basic level, Blockchain is a chain of blocks made up of digital pieces of information. Jagruti Solanki, MBA, CPA, CGMA, Partner, Technology and Blockchain with Aprio, provides an overview of what Blockchain is, as well as what we need to know when it comes to the accounting for virtual currencies. We all have them - questions about the virus itself, life after the virus, the "new normal"; But not all questions are about our lives. The AICPA is also bombarded with questions about accounting and auditing standards as well as the CARES Act, PPP and PPPFA. Kristy Illuzzi, CPA, staff liaison for the PCPS Technical Issues Committee at the AICPA, starts our segment by telling us about one of the most frequently asked questions relating to audit and accounting due to this pandemic.View More Info	02/14/2022
73	Accounting	FMN - 2020/June, Seg.4 - Economic Value Added - A Net Income Alternative	2.0	Economic value, or economic value added, or as some people refer to it, economic profit, is an alternative to net income; many people believe that net income may not be an appropriate measurement to identify value creation for an organization. So an alternative has been developed to evaluate value creation, known as the economic value model. Most companies present their financial statements based on GAAP, generally accepted accounting principles, but there are some weaknesses when we are trying to figure out a company's value. John Fleming, CPA at Kaplan Financial Education, explains why a net income alternative might be a better measurement in certain situations and to specific companies.	01/14/2023
74	Accounting	FMN - 2020/June, Seg.3 - Chairman of the FASB: A Career in Review	2.0	Course OverviewRunning successful businesses in today's fast-paced global environment has become increasingly costly and complex, and accounting standards are not immune to this. Financial statement preparers, as well as users, have expressed concerns that current generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) can be unnecessarily complex. In an effort to address these concerns, in May 2014, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) launched what is known as the Simplification Initiative. Russell Golden, Chairman of the FASB, discusses more about this initiative and some of the highlights of FASB accomplishments during his career at FASB. View More Info	01/14/2022

80	Accounting	FMN - 2020/October, Seg. 1 - COVID-19: Are Your Financial Statements Infected? - Part I	2.0	In the era of a global crisis due to COVID-19, many economists expect 2020 to be the year when we will experience the worst recession since the Great Depression. Many industries, such as oil and gas, retail and manufacturing, hospitality, portions of the transportation sector, tourism, manufacturing, aerospace and many others have reported goodwill impairment in the first two quarters of 2020 and more impairments are likely to spike before the end of the year. The negative economic impact of the virus is certainly considered a triggering event and justifies an impairment test on long-lived assets or asset groups for most industries.Todd Rahn, senior managing director and lead of accounting advisory practice on the west coast andChris Brown, senior managing director, from FTI Consulting, discuss industries that are at the greatest risk for impairment.	05/14/2022
81	Accounting	FMN - 2020/October, Seg. 2 - COVID-19: Are Your Financial Statements Infected? - Part II	2.0	COVID-19 imposed certain pressures on C-suite executives and has created an environment that is ripe for fraudulent activity. Pressure is one of the three legs in the fraud triangle model that can lead someone to commit fraud, along with perceived opportunity and rationalization. It's easy to talk in general terms about pressure, opportunity and rationalization, but how does each one surface in day-to-day operations, especially during the pandemic?Todd Rahn, senior managing director and lead of accounting advisory practice on the west coast andChris Brown, senior managing director, from FTI Consulting, continue our segment discussing related pressures, incentives and opportunities to commit financial reporting fraud that should be considered in an entity's risk assessment from a corporate perspective.	05/14/2022

85	Accounting	FMN - 2021/February, Seg 3 - Chairman of the FASB: A Career in the Making	2.0	On July 1, 2020, Richard Jones began his term as the eighth chairman of FASB, a very challenging role in and of itself, and starting in the midst of a global pandemic was certainly a curveball. In his remarks at the AICPA conference on SEC and PCAOB developments, in reference to standard setting, Rich quoted former Mets manager, Casey Stengel, who once said "Sometimes it's easier to understand things than to figure them out." Rich Jones discusses his new role, and the steps FASB is taking to make it easier for stakeholders, particularly private companies and nonprofit organizations to navigate standards during the pandemic and beyond. 87	Accounting	FMN - 2021/July, Seg 1 - Employee Stock Purchase Plans - Why Offer One?	2.00	Employee stock purchase plans, often known as ESPPs, are programs that enable employees to purchase company stock via elective payroll deductions. Typically, those deductions will accrue over a set period of time, often six months. At the end of that period, the accumulated money is then used to buy stock and a new six-month period starts. ESPPs are a great incentive for employees, but how are they different from any other kind of equity compensation like options or restricted stock?David Outlaw, Director of Valuation and HR Advisory Services at Equity Methods, provides us with details on the different types of ESPPs, reasons companies offer them, common structures and tax qualifications.	02/14/2023

88	Accounting	FMN - 2021/July, Seg 2 - Will the PCAOB Tighten the Leash?	2.00	In July 2002, Congress established the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, known as PCAOB, to oversee audits of public companies and SEC-registered brokers and dealers, in an effort to protect investors and the public interest. Over the years, there have been several cases of significant financial reporting fraud, significant internal control deficiencies, and other audit failures, resulting in the loss of investor confidence, yet the number of defective audits that resulted in enforcement actions by the PCAOB has been very small. Is the profession failing? Is accountability lost? Dan Goelzer, one of the founding members of the PCAOB, gives some insights on these questions.	02/14/2023
89	Accounting	FMN - 2021/June, Seg 2 - Topic 842 Leases - Are You Ready?	2.0	In February 2016, the FASB issued new authoritative guidance on accounting for leases. The new guidance is commonly referred to as Topic 842, which is a reference to the Leases topic of the FASB Accounting Standards Codification®. All reporting entities that prepare financial statements in accordance with U.S. GAAP must adopt Topic 842 as a replacement for previous GAAP on accounting for leases. Leases are one of a company's most significant costs that can directly impact business operations as well as valuation. Joe Fitzgerald, senior vice president of Lease Market Strategy at Visual Lease, discusses the impact of leases on the balance sheet based on the new standard, the underlying risks when leases are neglected or not accounted for, and what to look for when evaluating lease software.	01/14/2023
90	Accounting	FMN - 2021/March, Seg 1 - Structuring Equity Compensation	2.0	Equity compensation is a way to align the incentives of investors and executives. In economics, this is called a principal-agent problem; any time you need to get something done, you ask someone else (employee) to work on your behalf (shareholder investor.) In the "modern" stage of equity compensation, companies look to design appropriate ways to pay their employees using a combination of stock and a wide universe of equity instruments. But is this the only reason to pay in equity, besides alignment of incentives? Josh Schaeffer, director of Valuation and HR Advisory Practice at EquityMethods, starts our segment by addressing that very question.	10/14/2022
91	Accounting	FMN - 2021/March, Seg 2 - Current Expected Credit Losses - What You Need to Know	2.0	On June 16, 2016 the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update No. 2016-13, Financial Instruments - Credit Losses (Topic 326). The new guidance requires organizations to measure all expected credit losses for financial instruments held at the reporting date based on historical experience, current conditions and reasonable and supportable forecasts. It affects organizations that hold financial assets and net investments in leases that are not accounted for at fair value, and amongst other areas on the balance sheet, also affects loans and debt. ASC-326 is certainly a very complex standard. Chris Brown, senior managing director, Forensic & Litigation Consulting at FTI Consulting, discusses in detail the accounting standard and the reasons that drove FASB to issue it.	10/14/2022
92	Accounting	Foreign Corrupt Practices Act	1.0	Course Overview This course provides a basic understanding of the history of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) and the main provisions of the FCPA, including the anti-bribery provisions and the books and records and internal control provisions. 93	Accounting	Fraud Update: The Impact of Fraud and Actions to Address Fraud (Updated)	1.0	Course Overview: As fraud has evolved over the years the controls and procedures to prevent and detect fraud have also evolved. This course will consider the significant impact of fraud and the measures that have occurred to address fraud, particularly white-collar crime. The U.S. government response to events and situations involving fraudulent activity will be looked at, along with the consequences for committing fraud. The effectiveness of an organization's internal control system plays an important role regarding fraud, and an overview of the recently updated COSO's Internal Control - Integrated Framework is provided. Examples of fraud risks will be reviewed, along with steps that can be implemented as part of an anti-fraud program. View More Info	01/31/2023
94	Accounting	Full Disclosures in Financial Reporting (Updated - 3)	2.0	The full disclosure principle, one of the major accounting principles, requires that information provided in financial statements be sufficiently complete to avoid misleading users of the reports by omitting significant facts of information. The full disclosure principle also refers to revealing information that would be useful in the decision-making processes of informed users. Full disclosure is required for the fair presentation of financial statements. This course discusses the disclosures required of companies, including those related to accounting policies, segmental information, related parties, contingencies, long-term purchase contract obligations, inflation, and derivatives. Sample annual reports addressing this requirement are illustrated.	10/31/2022
95	Accounting	Fundamentals of Accounts Payable: Enhancing Your AP Operations	1.0	Course Overview Every organization has an accounts payable function. If it is handled poorly, it can cost the organization a lot more than it should. Not only are there extra operating costs, but poorly run operations can lead to duplicate payments, increased and costly frauds, and regulatory nightmares. In this course, you will learn some simple ways to enhance your accounts payable's productivity, create an effective electronic payment program, and minimize some common problems that lead to decreased productivity. 96	Accounting	Fundamentals of Accounts Payable: Payment Fraud Prevention and Detection	2.0	Course Overview: Payment fraud is an unfortunate fact of life for virtually every organization doing business today. There's no such thing as too big or too small. Everyone is a target. But that doesn't mean you have to be a victim. In this course you will learn how to take the proper steps to prevent and detect check, card, and electronic payment fraud. You'll also learn about some of the risks your organization may not realize it has taken on when it allows employees to use their own tablets and smart phones for company business. 97	Accounting	Fundamentals of Accounts Payable: Payments	1.0	Course Overview The payment process is fraught with opportunities to make mistakes - errors that will directly impact your company's bottom line. For the most part, they are easy to avoid. The key is knowing what they are and then devising best practice processes to make sure you don't inadvertently make them. You'd be surprised how frequently this happens, even at the best run organizations. In this course, we examine the common problems of losing early payment discounts (very expensive), incurring late fees, making too many rush payments (inefficient and costly), and the problems associated with the practices of making rush payments and returning checks to requisitioners. Both demonstrate weak internal controls and make the payment process inefficient. Strategies for minimizing or eliminating these issues are included. We close by taking a look at inaccurate payments and payment audits. Although many organizations have made huge strides in minimizing duplicate and other improper payments, they continue to be an issue. What's more, some organizations stick their head in the sand and refuse to believe this is an issue. It is. Saying you never make a duplicate payment is like saying you never make a mistake. 98	Accounting	Getting Paid Faster	1.0	Course OverviewMost companies have at least a few customers who don't pay them in a timely manner. Unfortunately, for some the problem is worse. They have many customers who don't pay them as quickly as they'd like. While it is definitely true that some of these organizations purposely drag their feet when it comes to the timing of payments, that is not always the case. In fact, many times the delay is due to something the supplier did (or didn't do) during the billing process. These are simply practices that could be easily rectified. This course contains the standard best practices every organization should use when trying to get paid in a timely manner as well as a look at the common mistakes that delay payments. The information on these inopportune slip-ups comes from interviews with accounts payable professionals who shared their frustrations over these easily-fixable oversights. 135	Accounting	Often-Overlooked Internal Control Breakdowns in Accts Payable	1.0	Course Overview: Strong internal controls are a good part of the fraud prevention framework any organization creates for the purposes of thwarting crooks. However, there are many places these controls fall down, and often they are in places where you least expect them. This is especially important when it comes to the accounts payable function. For control breakdowns in this area allow crooks easy access to the organization's financial assets. This course takes a look at control breakdowns that are sometimes unintentionally ignored to the peril of the organization not addressing them. The issues evaluated in this course are critical to those who want to run an efficient, fraud-resistant accounts payable function. © 2015 – Mary S. 151	Accounting	Revenue Recognition - Part 1	1.0	In 2014, after years of deliberations, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (the FASB) and the International Accounting Standards Board (the IASB) jointly issued the Accounting Standard Update (ASU) No. 2014-09 (codified primarily in ASC 606) and IFRS 15, respectively. ASC 606, the new revenue standard, replaces virtually all (including industry-specific) U.S. GAAP revenue guidance with a single model. The standard does not just change the amounts and timing of revenue but potentially affects organizations' financial statements, business processes and internal control over financial reporting. The standard also affects other related accounting topics such as contract modification, rights of return, licensing, principal-versus-agent considerations, and income tax. Moreover, the standard creates new and expanded disclosure requirements. In light of the new revenue standard, organizations need to reassess their current revenue accounting processes and systems and implement changes required to maintain compliance with the new guidance. This revenue recognition series (Parts 1, 2, and 3) reorganizes the guidance contained in ASC 606, to follow the five-step revenue recognition model along with other guidance impacted by this standard. The series also provides examples to illustrate the application. These revenue courses are designed to help you navigate the complexities of this standard, identify the implications of it, and prepare for implementation. These courses provide a working knowledge of the fundamentals of the revenue standard that can be applied, regardless of the company size, in the real world.	11/30/2022

IAASB's mission is to,“serve the public interest by setting high-quality international standards for auditing, quality control, review, other assurance, and related services, and by facilitating the convergence of international and national standards.”Tom Seidenstein, chairman of the IAASB, discusses his role and his priorities during his tenure.View More Info	02/14/2022
207	Auditing	FMN - 2020/March, Seg.1 - Applying Auditing Standards in a Scalable Manner	2.0	Course OverviewIn today's environment there are several influences that have a significant impact on the way auditors operate. Entities are setup in much more complex structures, technology rapidly advances in a way that's affecting the way transactions are recorded and how information is kept, and there is an increase in the gap between auditors and stakeholders as to what's required to be done and what's expected to be done. Our crew was present at the 14th Annual Audit Conference organized by NASBA, the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy, on Ensuring Integrity, and recorded a panel discussion addressing ways to apply auditing standards in a scalable manner.View More Info	10/14/2021
208	Auditing	FMN - 2020/November, Seg. 2 - Ineffective Internal Controls and Misconceptions	2.0	A successful internal controls program leverages business partnerships and includes good communication. Many companies embed standards of internal controls into the business process and prioritize the risks that need to be addressed. Establishing an effective program ensures that a remediation process is in place and controls, policies and procedures are updated accordingly. Internal controls are an integral part of any organization, regardless of size, industry or geographical location.Christine Doxey, author and Internal Controls & Risk Management Consultant at Doxey, Inc., discusses how internal controls might help or hinder a company's success.	06/14/2022
209	Auditing	FMN - 2020/September, Seg. 1 - COVID-19 and Fraud Schemes: Do You Know Where Your Money Is?	2.0	COVID-19 not only finds its place in every conversation, regardless of the topic, but it also takes a leading role. It has affected our lives in more ways than we've ever imagined, and it is not over yet. We see its impact on our individual lives, our business and our wallets. Congress passed the CARES Act in an effort to provide financial assistance for both individuals and businesses, but whenever there is government relief, along comes fraud!Brian Sanvidge, CIG, CFE, Principal and Leader of Anchin's Regulatory Compliance and Investigations Group, starts our segment by discussing the current environment and how it makes businesses more susceptible to fraud.	04/14/2022
210	Auditing	FMN - 2020/September, Seg. 4 - Earnings Management: Cause and Effect	2.0	Earnings management is a method of manipulating financial records in order to present a positive outcome of a company's financial position and performance. It imposes a significant risk that investors, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and accounting standard setters have been aware of and are trying to find ways to minimize. In September, 2019, the SEC charged Marvell Technology Group, Ltd with misleading disclosure violations to investors when it engaged in an undisclosed revenue management scheme in order to meet publicly issued revenue guidance. Charles Hecht, partner at Balesriere Fariello, starts our segment by giving us his thoughts on SEC crackdowns on earnings management.	04/14/2022
211	Auditing	FMN - 2021/April, Seg 4 - Internal Audit and The Use of Audit Data Analytics	2.0	The use of business analytics, and audit analytics in particular, can be beneficial across several industries, including internal audit. The difference between business data analytics and audit data analytics is that audit data analytics tend to focus on risks and controls of the organization or their underlying business, whereas business data analytics tend to be focused on wider areas. Audit departments, both external and internal, can really leverage these new techniques and look across the organization's data, identify those existing risks, or even predict new and emerging risks, and then help their organization to decisively mitigate those risks.Anya Drake, director at Protiviti, discusses the various skills, technologies and methodologies she sees across industries and their internal audit departments.	11/14/2022

219	Auditing	Internal Control and Fraud Detection (Updated - 3)	8.0	The introduction of Sarbanes-Oxley (SOX) Act law fueled rapid growth in the organizational importance of internal control systems. Appropriate interpretation and implementation of the internal control framework is vital for every organization. This course incorporates and reflects up-to-date guidance from the PCAOB, the AICPA, the ACFE, and the principles of 2013 COSO Framework. The course not only addresses the theoretical concept of the internal control systems but also provides readers with the practical guidance they need to assume a role in the design, implementation, maintenance and evaluation of a comprehensive framework of internal controls for their organizations. Specifically, the course presents the principles of internal control to help readers understand the nature and context of control, such as limitations of internal controls, the most recognized controls frameworks (e.g. COSO Framework, Green Book), and some common and important control procedures. It also includes steps on how to identify risks and controls, advice on how to assess the adequacy of controls, a discussion of how to reach a fair assessment, and documentation requirements for evidences of effective controls. In addition, the course discusses requirements related to performing an integrated audit: SAS 130 and AS No. 2201. Although these auditing rules are mandatory for external auditors and not for management, management should give consideration to following the approach described in these requirements. No discussion of internal controls would be complete without an examination of fraud prevention and detection. All organizations are subject to fraud risks. Fraud is now so common that its occurrence is no longer remarkable, only its scale. The course offers the essential tools for designing and implementing programs and controls to prevent and detect fraud. It focuses on the causes of fraud, fraud risk factors, some of the more common types of fraud, fraud symptoms, and fraud preventive and detective techniques, along with some recent cases in corporate fraud. It explains the differences between forensic accounting and auditing. It also includes the ACFE Fraud Prevention Checklist to help organizations identify major gaps and fix them before it is too late. This course includes an illustration of potential internal controls weaknesses involving accounting and financial reporting cycles, along with examples of compensating controls. It provides sample audit programs of key processes. It also incorporates appendixes including: an example of management internal control report, a SOX Section 404 management compliance checklist, financial reporting controls and information systems checklist for each key cycle (e.g. revenue, inventory, financing), and a computer applications checklist.	10/31/2022
220	Auditing	Introduction to Fraud Theory (Updated)	1.0	The following course will introduce the user to fraud theory as applied to financial reporting. Finally, this course also provides ways in which an auditor can avoid audit deficiencies. View More Info	05/31/2023
222	Auditing	Misappropriation of Assets (Updated)	1.0	In this course, you will learn techniques to identify, detect and prevent asset misappropriation. Asset misappropriation schemes, while not the largest from a dollar standpoint, are the most common type of occupational fraud. The fraud triangle will be discussed in the context of these schemes. The absence of strong internal controls often provides the opportunity element of the fraud triangle. Pressure and rationalization, the other elements of the fraud triangle, are unique to the individual. Strengthening internal controls, particularly segregation of duties, helps to prevent future asset misappropriation in the organization.	10/31/2022
223	Auditing	Non-Statistical Sampling for Efficient Audits	1.0	Course Overview Many auditors do little sampling in their audits because of the misconception that sampling must be statistical. 230	Behavioral Ethics	Bottom Line: Does Your Enterprise Have an Ethical Culture?	1.0	All groups (and just about every leader) want to be regarded as ethical. But having a strong integrity program will not, by itself, ensure ethical behavior in organizations. Dr. Patricia Harned, CEO of Ethics & Compliance Initiative (ECI), explains how it is possible, even in a geographically and ethnically diverse workplace, to establish and sustain an ethical organizational culture. She focuses on specific challenges to the accounting profession as well as those posed by the #MeToo movement.	05/31/2023
231	Behavioral Ethics	FMN - 2021/January, Seg 2 - Ethics and Corporate Misconduct - The Thin Red Line	2.0	Corporate misconduct and corruption have been going on for decades, causing significant damage that keeps growing. And who pays the price? Investors, consumers, employees, but also communities and even the corporations themselves. So why do companies misbehave? The culture within an organization, the corporate environment can be one of the reasons, but is it the company, the individuals that run it or the economic system itself that promotes unethical behavior? Marc Epstein, former professor at Harvard, Stanford and Rice Universities and Kirk Hanson, former professor at Santa Clara and Stanford Universities, are addressing the reasons why, in their view, companies, their executives and their employees misbehave.	08/14/2022
232	Business Law	FMN - 2019/December, Seg.4 - Safety and Health Issues in the Workplace Today	2.0	Course OverviewWorkplace violence is a frustrating problem facing corporations today and the cost to organizations is staggering. It can result from acts committed by a disgruntled employee or dissatisfied customer, or it can be a domestic incident that spills over into the workplace. Infectious disease is another significant issue that is a major challenge to companies. Employees can be exposed to communicable diseases at work, home, health clubs and while travelling. Brad Hammock, a shareholder with the law firm Littler Mendelson P.C., explains why it is important for companies to be aware of these risks, and what they can do to protect against them. 233	Business Law	FMN - 2020/February, Seg.3 - Antitrust Considerations in Addressing Brand Dilution in the E-Commerce Age	2.0	Course OverviewThe world is experiencing a rapid and massive change in how goods are bought and sold. We used to buy things in retail stores where pricing was pretty straightforward. But now more and more people are buying online. Online shopping has changed pricing in dramatic ways with price comparison tools and pricing robots used to set prices. All of these changes are putting immense pressure on companies to try to find ways to preserve the value of their brands. Ben Diessel, a partner with Wiggan and Dana, explains how companies should respond to these mounting brand dilution pressures as well as the risks they face for violating antitrust laws. 234	Business Law	FMN - 2020/October, Seg. 4 - 'You Have Been Elected as a Board Member' - Now What?	2.0	There is something to be said about the State of Delaware, a small state that derives more than 25% of its general fund revenue from the incorporation of businesses. It is a leading domicile for U.S. and international business entities. The majority of Fortune 500 companies have chosen to incorporate in Delaware and a significant percentage of initial public offerings (IPOs) are done by companies incorporated in Delaware. But what makes Delaware so appealing? John Gorman, partner at Luse Gorman, focuses on Delaware law and Courts and expands on board member fiduciary responsibilities.	05/14/2022
235	Business Law	FMN - 2021/February, Seg 4 - Employment Law and COVID-19: The Aftermath	2.0	In September 2020, the DOL's Wage and Hour Division (WHD) announced revisions to regulations that implement the paid sick leave and expanded family and medical leave provisions of the Families First Coronavirus Response Act (FFCRA). The revisions reaffirmed and provided additional explanations on certain requirements, clarifications as to the required documentation from employees to support their need for FFCRA leave and changes to the definition of "healthcare provider." We are approaching a year since the pandemic started and the workplace has evolved in a new direction. Randi Kochman, member at Cole Schotz, P.C. discusses how businesses and employee lives were reshaped due to the pandemic.	09/14/2022
236	Business Law	FMN - 2021/January, Seg 1 - Human Capital, Management Oversight and Disclosure - Is Your Board Ready?	2.0	In August 2020, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued its long-awaited amendments to Regulation S-K, the regulation which contains the detailed disclosure requirements, including a new requirement that public companies need to disclose information about "human capital resources." Boards often focus on key areas of a business and how to drive it forward, but have not been tasked with direct oversight of human capital management, as it has been historically viewed as management's responsibility. Gillian Emmett Moldowan, partner in the Compensation, Governance and ERISA group at Shearman & Sterling, discusses human capital management and how it fits into the broader framework of ESG.	08/14/2022
237	Business Law	FMN - 2021/July, Seg 3 - The SEC is Watching and the New E on ESG - Part I	2.00	In April 2018, the board of directors of Andeavor LLC and Marathon Petroleum Corporation approved the merger between the two companies according to what was thought to be in the best interest of their respective equity holders. Andeavor was acquired by Marathon in October 2018 for over $23 billion, making it the largest acquisition in San Antonio's history. The acquisition was completed in July 2019; however, Andeavor was on the Securities and Exchange Commission's radar. Charles Hecht, from Charles Hecht, P.C., discusses the case in further detail. Was this a case about weak internal accounting controls or insider trading? And what is the new "E" on ESG and the related required disclosures from the SEC?	02/14/2023
238	Business Law	FMN - 2021/July, Seg 4 - The SEC is Watching and the New E on ESG - Part II	2.00	Charles Hecht, from Charles Hecht P.C., continues our segment. He gives his insights as to how the SEC reacts to misleading disclosures caused by the pandemic and discusses the case brought by the SEC against The Cheesecake Factory. Companies can get very creative when the SEC is on their tail and it seems they often blame it on internal controls. But the true causes of misinformation always come out, one way or another. And if the SEC sees that the public is misinformed on what the true impact of COVID-19 was on a business, it is not afraid to act on that. Good or bad, the public will know. Charlie also discusses what COVID-19 taught businesses. Are you going to be ready if another pandemic hits?	02/14/2023
239	Business Law	Safeguarding Your Assets: Can You Protect Opportunities?	1.0	Course OverviewAs part of their workload, your employees are exposed to a variety of business possibilities, from new products and marketing innovations to potential acquisitions. 242	Business Management and Organization	FMN - 2020/April, Seg.3 - Rising Healthcare Costs: Cause and Effect	2.0	In recent years, healthcare costs have been increasing exponentially for employers, and the burden on the workforce has reached a point where health benefits are losing ground in the hiring and retention process. Even though the affordability of healthcare may have a direct correlation with one's salary, annual salary increases, if any, are not nearly enough to absorb the even faster growing healthcare costs. In addition to the rising costs, annual deductibles are often north of $1,500, and as a result, lower income workers and families opt out of insurance coverage. Matt Wolf, Director, Health Care Senior Analyst with RSM US LLP discusses some of the key factors driving those increases. View More Info	11/14/2021

274	Communications & Marketing	FMN - 2020/December, Seg 3 - Personal Branding - Perceptions and Impressions of You	2.0	Branding is often associated with the way we identify companies, as brands make a lasting impression on consumers. Personal branding is no different; it's the way we present ourselves and the impact our impression has on others. A personal brand exists; it's not something individuals have to create but it has to be managed, maintained and adapted to their role as they advance in their career. When it comes to personal branding, there is a lot of disconnect between what people think it is and what it actually is. Alyssa Gelbard, founder and president of Point Road Group, discusses what personal branding means and key aspects needed to build your personal brand and how to stand out.	07/14/2022
275	Communications & Marketing	FMN - 2021/January, Seg 4 - How to Say More with Less	2.0	There are many misconceptions about how to speak effectively to an audience and get your point across. Public speaking was the least favorite class in college for most of us; something we may have thought at the time, let's get through it and we won't have to do it ever again. Well... if we only knew at the time that we would be doing this every day of our lives. Public speaking is a vital component of executive presence. Diane DiResta, CEO of DiResta Communications Inc., is an executive coach and she discusses ways executives can be influential public speakers. She shares her experiences as to the biggest communication challenges financial executives face, as according to Diane, "to be a leader with influence you have to be a knockout presenter. And while gifted speakers are born, effective speakers are made."	08/14/2022

299	Economics	FMN - 2020/July, Seg.3 - Impact of Pandemics in U.S. and Global Economies - Part II	2.0	Course OverviewWe are currently in a time where the future is uncertain, and economic forecasts are unpredictable. Much like projections of where COVID-19 is going to go, looking at the situation objectively, this is the greatest variance in economic forecasting since World War II. As states start opening up businesses, the recovery stage can have many shapes and forms. The economic models refer to different recovery types known as the "V," the "W," the "L" shape and the "Swoosh." Dr. Robert McNab, professor of economics at Old Dominion University, Strome College of Business, continues our prior month's segment by explaining the correlation between the shape of recovery, the GDP growth and the unemployment rate.View More Info	02/14/2022
300	Economics	FMN - 2020/June, Seg.1 - Impact of Pandemics in U.S. and Global Economies - Part I	2.0	Course OverviewDecember 31, 2019, at midnight, we celebrated the start of a New Year! All over the world, fireworks went off to welcome a new beginning. Most of us made our resolutions, looking forward to a better year ahead, leaving the past behind, optimistic about new jobs, new opportunities, new chapters. The U.S. economy was in the longest economic expansion stage in its history, the job market was growing consistently, the impact of the expansionary fiscal policy was waning, monetary policy was historically accommodative and consumer sentiment remained high and then...COVID-19 happened, and our lives changed overnight. Dr. Robert McNab, professor of economics at Old Dominion University, Strome College of Business, discusses the impact of pandemics in U.S. and global economies. View More Info	01/14/2022
301	Finance	99DEL03-v3: Valuations: Businesses, Securities, and Real Estate (Updated - 2)	3.0	Course OverviewThis course covers valuations ranging from businesses, bonds, preferred stock and common stock to real estate. Business valuation is essentially a present value concept that involves estimating future cash flows of a business and discounting them at a required rate of return. The value of a bond is essentially the present value of all future interest and principal payments. Stock price may be expressed as a function of the expected future dividends and a rate of return required by investors. Real estate valuation involved several rule-of-thumb valuation methods. 306	Finance	Asset-Backed Securities	2.0	Course Overview:Finance has changed its focus over the years from relationships to commodities. Agreements that used to hold two people together are transformed into merchandise to be acquired and terminated at will. For example, an agreement to arrange a loan to a customer creates a relationship between the lender and borrower. However, that direct relationship is changed when the loan is converted into a bond or debenture. It becomes a commodity that can be traded among any number of bond buyers, who assume the role of lenders. By packaging and selling the bond into the market, the original lender's claim to receive principal and interest is transferred to anonymous others.Asset-backed securities (ABS) offer an excellent example of this trend. Using securitization, companies put their claims over assets on the market. When they convert their rights to various goods into securities and sell them, their balance sheet is wiped clean of these assets. Although they still have the assets in their possession, they have sold their responsibility or liability - along with the rights. With unique benefits to issuers and investors, asset-backed securities are a concept that has steadily gained popularity.	03/31/2023

319	Finance	FMN - 2020/October, Seg. 3 - Social Credit - Choose Your Friends Wisely	2.0	Can your friends determine your creditworthiness? Well, they sure can. The social credit system was initiated in China in 2014 and is due to be fully operational nationwide in 2020, yet the idea goes back to 2007. The program has already been piloted and, according to a government document, the social credit system is trying to reinforce the idea that "keeping trust is glorious and breaking trust is disgraceful." Can we associate Social Credit with the power of influence? Maybe so! Our behavior can be viewed as an "entry" that is given a social credit score, which ultimately acts as a reward or punishment system providing us with a high or low score.Yafit Lev-Aretz, assistant professor of law at the Zicklin School of Business, Baruch College, City University of New York, defines social credit and discusses its features and implications in today's world.	05/14/2022

In the initial months they were faced with having to present to stakeholders short-term forecasts in order to make numbers talk about an unpredictable future. An impossible task, but they delivered. They had to evaluate their company's viability with several unknown elements and assumptions that could not have been based on historical results. There has been nothing comparable to a global pandemic in recent years. Since the pandemic, we keep talking about companies and the pressures they feel to perform and stay afloat. But we seldom talk about the executives themselves, the human element behind the numbers.Julie Kantor, business psychologist, founder of JP Kantor Consulting, reveals the importance of focusing on the human aspect.	01/14/2023
403	Management Services	How to Achieve Breakthrough Innovations	1.0	Course OverviewMany established companies are not prepared to deal with breakthrough innovation. They are subdivided into discrete structures and business units that tend to favor the aggressive pursuit of operational excellence and incremental innovation at the expense of disruptive innovation. In this segment, Marc Epstein, author, advisor and professor, shows how companies can benefit from both incremental and breakthrough innovation by blending the philosophy of successful startups with the experience, access to resources and network of an established company.View More Info	01/27/2022

431	Personal Development	Long-Term Care Fundamentals (Updated - 2)	5.0	Course Overview:The risk of needing long-term care – a designation given to a broad range of services designed to meet an individual's mental, emotional or physical health and personal needs and which are often provided over an extended period of time – is present at all ages. However, as individuals become older the risk of requiring long-term care increases significantly. The U.S. population is expected to increase in size by about 27% by the year 2050. In contrast, the part of the U.S. population most at risk for needing long-term care – the segment comprised of individuals 85 years old or older – is expected to grow about 280% during this same period. Not only is the part of the population most at risk for needing long-term care growing disproportionately, the cost to provide that care is also increasing. Long-term care costs are substantial and, over the last several years, have been increasing at a rate that exceeds the inflation rate. The growing risk of needing long-term care fueled by a rapidly aging population coupled with the high and continually increasing cost of such care can present burdensome financial concerns to many clients and their heirs. This course examines the nature of long-term care, the forms in which it may be delivered, the risk of needing such care, the costs of long-term care, the sources available to pay long-term care costs and the features of long-term care insurance. Success or failure of the entire organization is often conditioned by the competency at the supervisory level. This course attempts to present and discuss those things that are essential to being a successful supervisor. It is designed to meet the special needs of a person aspiring to a supervisory job, and the practicing supervisor. The course is applicable to all types of supervisory jobs whether in manufacturing, service, or not-for-profit organizations. For the potential supervisor the course affords a concise but complete presentation and acquaintance with the many problems that will be confronted. For the experienced supervisor the material provides an overall review, a broadening of supervisory horizons, and a kindling of new and fresh thinking in the supervisory area. 458	Personnel/Human Resources	Proper Documenting and Progressive Discipline	1.0	Course OverviewThe proper management of documentation and progressive discipline when dealing with employee behavioral issues is crucial to any organization. Essential to that process are good, effective communication skills, which help to ensure that all policies are clearly and concisely stated, and that everyone interprets the rules in the same way. This course addresses the steps necessary to maintain high disciplinary standards while retaining good employees. The importance of viewing discipline not simply as a punishment, but first and foremost as a way to help employees develop, is emphasized, along with the importance of defining clear objectives so that employees know what is expected in terms of behavior and performance. A five-step process for documenting performance and behavioral issues, and the procedures and questions for a beneficial disciplinary interview, are explored, along with potential employee reactions to these disciplinary interviews and recommendations for dealing with these reactions.	02/28/2023
459	Personnel/Human Resources	Recruitment and Selection (Updated)	1.0	Course OverviewThe recruitment and selection process can be used to enhance employee morale, promote job efficiency, and diminish the costs of turnover across an organization. The objective of this course is to understand recruitment and selection, to learn effective techniques and skills in the selection and interview process, and to identify the legal issues associated with the recruitment and hiring process. In this course, certain procedures and approaches to recruitment and selection are highlighted. The course also identifies the types of questions to ask and wording to use during the interview process, and how to evaluate the answers a candidate provides.	03/31/2023

509	Regulatory Ethics	FMN - 2020/December, Seg 4 - Ethics in Brand Licensing and the Impact of Technology	2.0	Brand licensing is often viewed as a balance of risk and reward, a marriage that has a finite life and can end with an amicable or a nasty divorce. However, those relationships create legal as well as ethical challenges. Our crew was able to record a panel discussion addressing ethics in brand licensing. The panelists, Maura Regan, president, Licensing International, Marshall Mizrahi, vice president, Handcraft Manufacturing Corp., Elsheva Jasie, head of partnership & licensing, Vicente & Partners LLP, and Elizabeth Henries, lawyer and managing manager, Henries PLLC, addressed how technological changes have affected the licensing industry, what kind of changes they have witnessed in the past decade and what they anticipate seeing in the near future.	07/14/2022
510	Regulatory Ethics	FMN - 2020/July, Seg.4 - Ethics and the Human Concern - Part II	2.0	Course OverviewThe COVID-19 pandemic poses unprecedented risks to the world economy. The International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB) and the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants (IESBA) are committed to doing their part in support of a global response. In addition to transitioning to fully digital platforms to facilitate stakeholder outreach, they developed, commissioned or sourced reference materials to each Board to help their stakeholders continue their work. Dr. Stavros Thomadakis, Chairman of IESBA, continues our prior month's segment and starts by sharing his perspectives on the Coronavirus pandemic and how the economic crisis may impact the application of the Code of Ethics and the International Independence Standard. 519	Regulatory Ethics	South Carolina Ethics, Rules and Regulation Course	2.0	This course is designed to enable all participants to understand the rules and regulations required to operate as a licensed CPA in South Carolina. The state of South Carolina expects all its licensees to conduct business in the most ethical manner, and this course helps define those expectations. The content of the course was developed for practitioners and any others concerned with South Carolina CPA licensing. Content Partner: South Carolina Board of Accountancy. The South Carolina Board of Accountancy is responsible for administering State law requiring those who profess special competence in the practice of accounting to demonstrate and maintain their competence to do so, in accord with the State's policy to protect the public interest by promoting the reliability of information used for guidance in financial transactions or for accounting or for assessing the financial status or performance of commercial, noncommercial, and governmental enterprises.	01/01/22
520	Regulatory Ethics	Tax Ethics (Updated)	2.0	This course discusses ethical issues associated with the performance of tax services. It addresses Treasury Department Circular 230, the AICPA's Standards for Tax Services, tax preparer penalties, and related sections of the AICPA's Code of Professional Conduct.	03/31/2023
521	Regulatory Ethics	Tax Return Preparer Ethical Issues (Updated)	2.0	The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) routinely processes more than 200 million tax returns each year, many of them prepared by tax professionals. Not surprisingly, as tax law becomes increasingly complex, taxpayers often seek the knowledgeable assistance of attorneys, certified public accountants (CPAs), enrolled agents, and other qualified tax return preparers. To help ensure such professionals understand their ethical responsibilities in representing their clients before the IRS and in preparing their tax returns, the IRS has published Treasury Department Circular No. 230. Circular No. 230 offers substantial guidance by: Setting forth rules relating to the authority to practice before the IRS; Identifying the duties and restrictions relating to practice before the IRS; and Prescribing sanctions for violating the regulations. This course will examine many of those rules, duties, and restrictions as well as the sanctions imposed for their violation. In that examination of applicable rules, the course will discuss the requirements imposed on tax return preparers and will then present real-world scenarios focusing on specific ethical issues preparers may encounter in their professional activities. The preparer will be asked to analyze the scenario, identify the ethical issue or issues presented, and determine an appropriate response.	09/30/2022
522	Regulatory Ethics	The CPA Who Took on Halliburton - And Won	1.0	Course Overview Woven throughout the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the Dodd-Frank Act is the theme that employees who report financial abuse may well aid in preventing future corporate collapses and securities frauds. Our cameras were on hand as corporate financial executive Anthony Menendez, widely known as "The Accountant Who Took on Halliburton - And Won," recounted the lessons he learned from his decade-long legal battle as a corporate whistleblower. 524	Specialized Knowledge	FMN - 2021/June, Seg 1 - SPACs - Worthy Investments or Killers?	2.0	SPACs, special purpose acquisition companies, have been around since the early 2000s, yet they have been the biggest trend over the past year. When there is a surge, especially of that magnitude, there is also scrutiny. The SEC looks very closely at filings and disclosures by SPACs to protect the public so investors can make informed investment decisions. Warren Buffet considers the SPAC boom a "killer," but is there another side to SPACs? Opinions are split. SPACs are in the news almost daily, but the question is how long will this boom last and is this really a "killer"? Brian Sarkis, CFA, founder of The Franklin Nova Group discusses SPACs in detail, how they work, and the underlying risks.	01/14/2023
525	Specialized Knowledge	HIPAA Principles and Provisions (Updated - 2)	4.0	Course Overview HIPAA Principles and Provisions examine the genesis of many of the legislation's provisions in the National Uniform Billing Committee and in earlier attempts to impose healthcare reform. It considers the changes the legislation made in the rules applicable to group and individual health insurance plans with respect to the imposition of pre-existing conditions exclusions and the insurer's ability to decline to offer coverage, changes that provided a conceptual basis for the more significant changes implemented under the Affordable Care Act. Archer medical savings accounts (MSAs) – the pilot program that acted as a precursor to health savings accounts (HSAs) – are explained. The important MSA issues relating to eligibility, permissible contributions and the tax treatment of contributions and distributions are examined. In addition to a discussion of HIPAA's early attempt to change some of the traditional health insurance underwriting rules, the simplification of healthcare administration contained in Title II of the legislation is also examined. In so doing, HIPAA's requirements concerning electronic transactions, security, national provider identifiers (NPI) and privacy of protected health information are examined. 532	Taxes	Estate Tax Planning (Updated - 3)	3.0	Estate Tax Planning examines the various aspects of planning for the estate tax liability. The course begins with a discussion of the genesis of estate taxation in English common law and continues with an examination of the estate and its administration. The subjects discussed in the course are a) the estate and its administration, b) federal gift and estate taxes, c) common estate planning trusts, d) calculating federal estate taxes, e) state inheritance and estate taxation, and f) estate tax payment. The text serves as an introduction to the issues of estate settlement and includes a discussion of the probate estate and the federal gross estate. The steps taken to calculate federal estate tax liability are discussed. In that discussion, the federal gross estate, tentative taxable estate, taxable estate and tentative tax are examined. The various estate tax credits and deductions are considered and their place in the federal estate tax calculation is explained. The role of trusts in estate tax minimization is considered. The common trusts employed in estate tax planning are explained, and the uses of credit shelter trusts, QTIP trusts and irrevocable life insurance trusts are demonstrated. State death taxes are considered, and inheritance taxes are compared to estate taxes with respect to the party liable for payment and the role of decedent/beneficiary relationships in inheritance taxation. Finally, the traditional sources of estate tax payment are examined and compared.	10/31/2022
533	Taxes	FMN - 2020/April, Seg.4 - Federal Income Tax Withholding on Foreign Persons: Forms 1042 and 1042-S	2.0	Course OverviewIn recent years, healthcare costs have been increasing exponentially for employers, and the burden on the workforce has reached a point where health benefits are losing ground in the hiring and retention process. Even though the affordability of healthcare may have a direct correlation with one's salary, annual salary increases, if any, are not nearly enough to absorb the even faster growing healthcare costs. In addition to the rising costs, annual deductibles are often north of $1,500, and as a result, lower income workers and families opt out of insurance coverage. Matt Wolf, Director, Health Care Senior Analyst with RSM US LLP discusses some of the key factors driving those increases.View More Info	11/14/2021

537	Taxes	FMN - 2020/November, Seg. 4 - Bonus Depreciation Updates and GILTI Provisions	2.0	On September 21, 2020, the IRS released the final regulations (T.D. 9916) providing guidance regarding the additional first-year depreciation deduction under section 168(k) of the Internal Revenue Code. These final regulations reflect and further clarify the increased deduction and the expansion of qualified property, particularly to certain classes of used property, authorized by the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act. These final regulations generally affect taxpayers who depreciate qualified property acquired and placed in service after September 27, 2017, and rescind a portion of the proposed regulations published on September 24, 2019.Ed Zollars, CPA, partner at Thomas, Zollars & Lynch, Ltd., gives us the highlights on the final regulations and what prompted their release.	06/14/2022
538	Taxes	FMN - 2021/April, Seg 1 - Global Tax and Transfer Pricing Strategies: What Lies Beneath - Part I	2.0	Transfer pricing is an accounting and tax practice used to determine the cost of goods or services rendered within businesses and between departments, subsidiaries or holding companies that operate under common control or ownership. But there is a risk that lies beneath transfer pricing, and that risk is tax manipulation. It is often a way to shift tax liabilities to a lower-tax jurisdiction or even another country, as transfer pricing can extend to both domestic and global markets.Marina Gentile, lead of the Global Transfer Pricing Strategies practice, andChaya Siegfried, international tax partner, at Withum discuss how transfer pricing goes hand in hand with an effective global tax structure and how proper planning is key.	11/14/2022
539	Taxes	FMN - 2021/April, Seg 2 - Global Tax and Transfer Pricing Strategies: What Lies Beneath - Part II	2.0	As the world is slowly coming out of the pandemic, companies are reevaluating their day-to-day operations, levels of performance within various departments, affiliates and subsidiaries, as well as customer and supplier relationships. Many companies have gone out of business, leaving customers to look for alternatives in their supply chain, while others have reorganized, transitioned to a virtual platform and switched from supply chains overseas to domestic or local manufacturers. As a result, their existing transfer pricing policy may no longer reflect the new corporate structure and intercompany cash flows.Chaya Siegfried, international tax partner and Marina Gentile, lead of Global Transfer Pricing Strategies practice at Withum, continue our segment by discussing the impact of the current environment on global tax and transfer pricing..	11/14/2022

540	Taxes	FMN - 2021/March, Seg 3 - Unclaimed Property Reforms and Challenges - Part I	2.0	Property or accounts within financial institutions or companies that have not been claimed by their owner and have no activity for a year or more can be classified as unclaimed property, and if there is no contact or change, that property needs to be turned over to the state. But before that last step, when the dormancy period has passed, the entity has the responsibility to perform due diligence and make many attempts to locate the owner of the abandoned property. State Unclaimed Property Laws and Regulations seem to differ from other business regulations and tax requirements in a number of ways, including when a state law applies and the types of items to which it applies. Karen Anderson, director, and William King, tax managing director, State and Local Tax, at KPMG LLP, discuss unclaimed property reforms and challenges and explain some of the anomalies and the ways they impact businesses.	10/14/2022
541	Taxes	FMN - 2021/March, Seg 4 - Unclaimed Property Reforms and Challenges - Part II	2.0	In July 2020, the Delaware Court of Chancery reversed a subpoena issued by the Delaware Department of Finance (the Department) in the course of an ongoing unclaimed property audit of AT&T. The issuance of the Department's subpoena on behalf of the State Escheator was initiated in 2021 requesting AT&T's records going back 20 years from the commencement of the audit to 1992! Karen Anderson, director, and William King, tax managing director, State and Local Tax, at KPMG LLP continue our segment on unclaimed property reforms and challenges and discuss administrative subpoena authority. Are state administrators who have this authority issuing administrative subpoenas in unclaimed property audits? And are there any restrictions of the types of information that can be subpoenaed?	10/14/2022

544	Taxes	Healthcare Reform: The Affordable Care Act Tax Provisions (Updated - 3)	4.0	Course Overview: The landmark legislation known as the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA), signed into law in 2010, is likely to affect virtually every person and institution in the United States in some way. It imposes healthcare-related requirements on health plans, health insurers, employers and individuals. In addition to imposing various tax increases to increase revenue, the PPACA uses a carrot and stick approach to ensure compliance with its provisions, offering tax credits for compliance and imposing tax penalties for non-compliance. This course will review the principal provisions of the law and will examine its tax impact on individuals and businesses. In so doing, it will consider the: Coverage-related provisions of the PPACA addressing: Plan grandfathering pursuant to which health coverage in force at the time of the law's passage may be continued; The prohibition of pre-existing condition exclusions; The proscription of lifetime and annual benefit limits; The limitation of health coverage rescissions; The requirement for certain patient protections; The general requirement for universal health care coverage; and The requirement that plans covering children extend child coverage until age 26; Tax credits available to small businesses to encourage them to sponsor employee health plans; Shared responsibility for certain large employers to provide employee health coverage and the tax penalties imposed for noncompliance; Various personal income tax changes affecting taxpayers; and Tax credits and tax penalties authorized to help enforce the PPACA requirement that individuals maintain minimum essential coverage. 549	Taxes	Practice Before the IRS (Updated)	2.0	Course Overview The Internal Revenue Service routinely processes more than 200 million tax returns each year, many of them prepared by tax professionals. Not surprisingly, as tax law becomes increasingly complex, taxpayers often seek the assistance of knowledgeable professionals to represent them with respect to tax and other matters before the IRS. However, the ability to represent a client before the IRS is, with certain exceptions, extremely limited. This course addresses the nature of practice before the IRS, identifies those permitted to engage in such practice and examines the power of attorney under which a taxpayer authorizes representation before the IRS.
